

Privacy Policy

DISCLAIMER

The site is not to be used for medical emergencies or urgent situations. IF YOU THINK YOU HAVE A MEDICAL EMERGENCY THEN CALL 911 OR GO TO THE NEAREST EMERGENCY ROOM IMMEDIATELY. This site is intended to provide information about Oswego Health programs and services, as well as general health-related information. It is not intended to be a source of healthcare advice, treatment or diagnosis. All visitors to this site are advised to consult with their own physician regarding their specific healthcare questions, needs and concerns, and to discuss any information provided through this site with their physician before taking any action with regard to their own health.

LINKS

The site may contain links to other Internet websites that may or may not be owned or operated by Oswego Health. Oswego Health has not reviewed all of the websites that are linked to the site and has no control over them. Unless otherwise explicitly stated, Oswego Health is not responsible for the content, updates, changes, privacy, or other practices of such 3rd party websites. The fact that this site offers such links does not indicate approval or endorsement of any material contained on any linked website. These links are being provided to you as a courtesy only. Accordingly, we strongly encourage you to become familiar with the terms and conditions of any linked 3rd party websites. Furthermore, it is up to you to take precautions to ensure that whatever links you select or software you download (whether from the site or others) is free of malicious code.

YOUR PRIVACY

Oswego Health respects the privacy of our users. By accessing our web site and entering information into any of our form pages, you are agreeing to and accepting this Privacy Policy, as well as the terms of use or other end-user agreements for our site.

- We will not distribute information that identifies you individually or reveals your identity (personally identifiable information) to any organization outside of the Oswego Health system.
- We will not make identifying information available publicly without the prior written or electronic consent of the individual identified.
- We may collect and use information about you and your use of the Oswego Health site, including identifying information, for our own internal purposes such as analyzing usage of the web site for improvement purposes.
- Oswego Health may send users, via email or other means, information relating to our site and/or information on special events, new programs or services and/or promotions from our partners/colleagues. The information described in these messages is intended to be of high interest or value to our users. To choose not to receive such messages, or any other future emails simply choose "no" to receive future Oswego Health mailings on our form page(s), otherwise your electronic approval will qualify as your consent for this purpose.
- If you make a purchase by credit card or otherwise provide your credit card information, the relevant data will be transmitted to a 3rd party vendor for payment processing.
- Oswego Health may use other companies or outside agencies to perform certain functions. For example, functions might include credit card payment processing or email services. These companies or outside agencies may be given access to certain personally identifiable information as needed to perform their services, but are not authorized to use this information for any other purposes. From time to time Oswego Health may share certain customer information with affiliates, but we also ask those companies to honor the standards of our Privacy Policy.

In order to provide our users with a more complete understanding of how the Oswego Health website collects and uses information from our users, we have provided the following information:

INTERNET PROTOCOL (IP) ADDRESS

The Oswego Health site may log IP addresses for system administration, diagnostic, and site tracking purposes. The Oswego Health site does not link IP addresses to personally identifiable information.

COOKIES

The Oswego Health site may store files called "cookies" on the user computer that contain usernames, passwords and other user preferences solely for the convenience of the user.

CHANGES TO THIS PRIVACY POLICY

Oswego Health may amend this policy from time to time without direct notice to you. If we make any substantial changes in the way we use your personal information, we will post an announcement on our website describing the changes. If you have any questions regarding this policy, please contact the Oswego Health Privacy Officer at 315-349-5566.
